

T. A. Barron Bio – Short Version

T. A. Barron grew up in Colorado ranch country, and after a successful business career in New York, moved back to Colorado to pursue his dream to be a writer, outdoorsman, and conservationist. He is the award-winning author of more than 30 highly-acclaimed books, including The Merlin Saga, which is now being developed into a feature film by Disney. T. A. Barron is an advocate for public-spirited kids, and is founder of the Gloria Barron Prize for Young Heroes, a national award that each year honors 25 young people who help their communities or the environment. When not writing or speaking, T. A. Barron serves on many boards that are dedicated to protecting the great outdoors, including Princeton University, where he helped to create the Princeton Environmental Institute, and The Wilderness society.
